WINERY ATZBERG

The Atzberg lies in the middle of the Wachau, one of the most beautiful cultural landscapes in the world. As early as 1382, the „ÄRTZBERG“ was mentioned in a document as a wine-growing estate. The soil - as the original original name suggests - is rich in ore. Due to the arduous cultivation of this steep vineyard, viticulture on the Atzberg was abandoned in the 1950s after a good 700 years. The renowned Wachau wine expert, wine priest Hans Denk (†), has always attested to the quality of this site a quality that is unique even in the Wachau.

Ried Preussen-Nussberg 1^{GF} for the first time documented in 1501, named after the Royal councillor Heinrich Preussel – not after the Prussians, as often mistakenly claimed. The single vineyard Preussen has always been considered as the showpiece of the Wiener Nussberg and brings about Riesling wines and Wiener Gemischter Satz with unbelievable mineral character and complexity.

Ried Langteufel-Nussberg 1^{GF}

the single vineyard Langteufel is part of the „Nussberg“ vineyard. The name is derived from the shape of the plot. The Langteufel vineyard is a long, wedge-shaped vineyard exposed to the south-west, which has always been very difficult to cultivate. The hewers used to curse: „The devil is the Lang“. This location was first mentioned in a document in 1384 as „Langtewel am Nusper“. The Langteufel vineyard is not dissimilar to the Preussen vineyard and is characterised by sandstone with a high quartz content and marine deposits.
